Enthusiasm for their fare ultimately led to them taking a high school points stance. After falling in love with the food industry, they opened the smoke saladino. Now, Grand Rapids, MI residents can have a chock trailer full of classic barbecue rolls into their events. The beauty of the barbecue is that it creates meats with such powerful flavors that speak for themselves. The pitmasters here use 100% wood-fueled smokers to cook their choice of low cuts'n slow over oak, cherries, apples, and mesquite. It's Ante's ups in smoky taste and results in some of the most juicy, all-taste 'que state of the ethnl' to offer. Stretched from brisket to ribs to pork, these foods will leave your carnivorous food. Ptois? Of course you are, so book Saladino Smoke for your next event.
